DEADLOCK ON RELIEF MAY BE BROKEN SOON

Negotiators Resume Conferences in Effort To Avoid Extra Session.

LEADERS NEAR AGREEMENT

Senate Coalition May Ask Funds To Be Used for Emergency Relief.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb 5—Early solution of the vexing deadlock on relief legislation appeared likely today as negotiators resumed conferences determined to avoid an extra session of the new congress this spring

A proposal to increase the drouth loan appropriation by $15,000,000 with provision that in event of extreme emergency it can be loaned for human relief purposes is the basis of the compromise now being considered on the disputed $25,000,000 Red Cross relief appropriation

Understanding Near

The senate coalition of Democrats and Republican independents which has demanded the $25,000,000 relief fund and the house Republican leaders who have steadfastly opposed a federal appropriation for relief work were represented as nearing an understanding

"All I can say," commented Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, "is that we are not standing on technicalities in this emergency."

Closely watching the peace negotiations, President Hoover meanwhile has dispatched per...

CANNON QUIZ MAY END TODAY

Board of Inquiry Expected To Complete Taking of Testimony on 48 Charges.

DETECTIVE IS WITNESS

Secret Service Man Said To Have Worked for Months on Evidence Against Bishop.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5—The board of inquiry investigating charges against Bishop James Cannon Jr, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, expected today to conclude taking documentary evidence against the accused prelate

There are 48 separate accusations in the bill of indictment being presented. Much of the evidence deals with charges other than those made to the general conference at Dallas last summer when Bishop Cannon was cleared of stock gambling accusations.

Today's chief witness was Frank Morgan, a Richmond, Va., detective. Morgan was said to have worked for months developing the evidence now being laid before the twelve elders hearing the charges. If the documents are found to have weight in the minds of the board, Bishop Cannon will be suspended until 1934 and brought to trial before the general conference.

Morgan was recalled today by department of justice officials as one of the special agents who developed the case against Gaston B. Means which sent sent him to Atlanta to serve a term for perjury in connection with the oil trials.

Job for Blind

(Will Rogers Special)

DURANT, Okla., Feb. 5—I see by last night's paper where Mr. Hoover dispatched a flier to Arkansaw and the stricken area to see how bad things were. He could have sent a blind man and found out.

The Red Cross is feeding 70 counties in this state. Every town is feeding people, yet the ones that have it sure do help.

We played morning, afternoon and night in three small towns all under 6,000 population and the three paid over $10,000 in admissions.

They did that because they know it's needed. If the rest of the country could just get woke up like that and quit waiting on the government.

CAMPBELL HOPES FOR RECORD TRY TODAY

English Race Driver Waits for Low Tide To Assault World's Record.

By The Associated Press

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Feb 5—While Captain Malcolm Campbell again groomed his huge Bluebird II machine for an assault upon the land speed record of 231 miles an hour, four smaller cars were entered today in trials for class speed records

Campbell planned to make his attempt at low tide, conditions permitting Low tide occurs about 3:45 p. m., Marion time

Besides his giant racing car, Captain Campbell also has brought from England, a midget four-cylinder car, in which he hopes to set a new speed record for automobiles having a piston displacement less than 45 cubic inches.

Campbell was prevented from making an attack upon the world's record yesterday because of a high wind that swept the natural speedway at the beach and blew soft sand over the course. He hoped velocity of the wind, which he estimated yesterday at 40 miles an hour, would abate by this afternoon

SIX WILL DRAFT BILL

Three Members of Both Houses of Legislature To Be Named on Committee.

By The Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, O Feb 5—Selections of a committee of six, three each from the senate and house to prepare tax legislation for consideration of the Ohio general assembly was expected today as a result of the refusal last night of Governor White to appoint three additional members as provided in a joint resolution

The joint resolution originating in the senate was adopted by the house and provided a committee of nine members three to be appointed by the governor if he chose to follow the legislature's suggestion It previously had been approved in the senate

Governor Refuses

Refusal of the governor to concur in the suggestions of the resolution left the senate and house the task of selecting a committee of six to prepare and submit a bill under the classification tax amendment approved in 1929 by the electors

Lieutenant Governor William G Pickrel, presiding officer of the senate, said he would appoint three senators as recommended by the Republicans and Democrats in that body Senator D H De Armond, Hamilton, Democratic minority leader, announced that he would call a caucus of the Democrats to choose their representative Senator Paul R Lewis of St Clairsville, Republican majority leader, is expected to name his two committeemen

Speaker Arthur Hamilton, Republican of Warren county indicated he would select three house tax committee members today before adjournment for the week end

The recommendation yesterday of the house reference committee for immediate consideration of the senate resolution brought forth hot debate with the Democratic minority solidly opposed to the measure, and three Republicans, George H Roberts of Youngstown; James A Glenn of Coshocton county and B L Greesy of Ashtabula county aligned with them The Republican majority however won the battle by a vote of 66 to 59 a bare majority

When advised of the house's action on the resolution the governor

GEN. BUTLER CHARGES TO BE KEPT SECRET

Navy Department Decides Not To Let Public in on Case.

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb 5 The navy department does not intend to make public the charges against Major General Smedley D Butler.

The charges were served upon the marine general yesterday His counsel, Major Henry Leonard said they were "severe

As to immediate publication of the charges, Major Leonard last night dispatched a letter to naval officials in which he said General Butler felt it was "a matter for determination wholly by the navy department"

Leonard said his client "neither seeks the publication of such charges and specifications nor does he seek to avoid or prevent their publication"

Secretary Adams postponed a decision.

"I guess we'll have to talk it over tomorrow," he said.

The state department has forwarded to Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr, an acknowledgement of his letter relating to the Butler case, but will not make the communication public

While department officials declined to comment on the nature of the reply, the inference was given that the department considers its part in the Butler incident closed with the apology to the Italian government

FARM LIFE BECKONS WHITE COLLAR CLASS

City Dwellers Prefer Growing Food To Buying It, Land Office Reports.

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5—Thousands of city dwellers are seeking to find out if there's a place for them in the big open spaces of the west.

At a rate of 400 to 600 a day their letters are piling up at the general land office. They want to know how to go about filing claims for homesteads on public lands. Long-time employes of the land office recalled today that in each of the depressions of the past 30 years, applicants for government lands doubled and trebled. They are following the precedent now in even greater proportion but the news they get is less encouraging.

For little if any of the public domain remaining is suitable for farming and the land office in giving applicants instructions on establishing claims adds that warning.

Most of the letters come from the thickly populated urban centers of the east and central United States. Thousands of the land seekers belong to the "white collar" class of workers, who despite agriculture's trouble fondly believe it would be easier to grow the food they are finding it difficult to buy.

Many letters, however, come from farmers in the east who want to move, and a good proportion is written by sons of farmers who strayed from the furrows in their youth to search for metropolitan fame.

During the fiscal year ended last June 5,434,550 homestead entries were recorded. The year before they were just more than four and a half million. Records for the last six months are not complete, but officials estimated today the total of entries and applications would run well into the millions.

Poor Business Brings Gambling Ship To Shore

By the Associated Press.

ST PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb 5 The luxurious gambling ship Monte Carlo, victim of the vagaries of chance and the whims of the sea lay today at anchor off Egmont Key

Financial difficulties, which caused the closing of her gaming devices Monday, were augmented by a physical disability yesterday when the Monte Carlo broke loose from her moorings in the gulf. Coast guard cutters got new anchors aboard the 300 foot ship before the shoals were reached

Today she lay within the riparian rights of the law, so to speak, and therein was another difficulty A writ of attachment, sworn to by a creditor of the ship was in the hands of Sheriff Roy Booth

The Monte Carlo opened its brief life with the new year Speed boats conveyed guests to a location outside the three-mile limit There were dice games, card tables, roulette wheels hazard tables, the all veired wheel of fortune and the "bird cage" table but the majority of the gambling was done at the five, ten and twenty-five cent slot machines

GUNS BARK ANEW IN SCIOTO COUNTY FEUD

Two Wounded, One Near Death, as Factions Battle Over Liquor Rights.

By The Associated Press.

PORTSMOUTH, O, Feb 5 Two more casualties were added to the liquor feuds of Green township in hilly eastern Scioto county today while officers were in the midst of a cleanup drive.

John Pierce, 30, and Ellis Brown, 62, shot it out yesterday in an argument over a still, officers said. Pierce was near death at a hospital here today while Brown was in the county jail nursing a slight foot wound.

Deputy sheriffs came across Pierce, lying in a creek bed, while they sought William G. Porter, reputed leader of a gang of moonshiners blamed by the grand jury for a reign of lawlessness which has caused four killings and 25 other shootings in recent months. The deputies arrested Brown at his nearby home. Confiscated the still and picked up James and Merrill Pierce, brothers of the wounded man, and Hopkins Dyer.

EFFORTS TO START FIRE IN STOVE FATAL

Mrs. Anna Powell Passes Away In Hospital Three Hours After Blast.

RAN STORE AT MORRAL

Clothes Burned from Body Conscious Until Shortly Before Death.

Body burns suffered by Mrs. Anna F Powell, 66 in an explosion early this morning at the Powell general store in Morral, caused her death three hours later at City hospital

Kerosene poured on hot coals is believed to have caused the fire which burned the clothes from her body at 7 a. m and caused her death at 10

Mrs Powell was discovered by a woman passing the store Harold Shultz and Roy Neal, who were near the scene, were called and extinguished the flames which enveloped her body.

Husband Ill

No one saw the accident For weeks Mrs Powell has been opening the store Mr Powell has been ill at his home and it was her custom to open the store for business at 7 a m

When she was found, the odor of kerosene was in the air, and a can of the oil was near the coal stove Those who were first to reach her believe that she poured kerosene in the stove unaware that a bed of hot coals lined the grate. Gases formed and flames were thrown back on her by the pressure of the explosion igniting her clothing and rendering her helpless to assist herself The explosion did not damage the store nor disturb the can of kerosene and basket of kindling wood and coal nearby.

Denies Using Kerosene

She was brought to City hospital in an ambulance and was conscious until a short time before she died. Before she left the store, she denied that she had poured kerosene in the stove.

Since Mr. Powell's illness, she had kept up the store, independently owned but belonging to an organization of Red and White stores She worked in the store alone all day until Allen Ferguson, a school boy, came in at 3 30 p. m to help her.

Besides her husband she leaves a son, Floyd Forrey of Morral. Her step-children are Mrs. George Bosley of Morral, Oliver and Everett Powell of Columbus and Frank Powell and Mrs. Vesta Penhorwood of West Mansfield Two children, Eva Ruth and Glen Forrey are dead.

Surviving brothers and sisters are Mrs. A H Ballinger, S. H. Skidmore and Mrs Eva Harvey of West Mansfield.

The Powell family lived in Morral for years, and have operated the general store since they first settled there. Mrs. Powell was born in West Mansfield to Thomas and Anna Drake Skidmore. She was married twice Her church affiliations were with the Morral Baptist congregation. B. C. Ballinger of West Mansfield a nephew will be in charge of the funeral.

Arrangements for the funeral have not been made.

"OUTWARD BOUND" AT OHIO HAS FINE PLOT, GOOD CAST

Rated as One of 10 Best Talkies Produced in 1930.

A weird, pilotless ship, bound for heaven or hell with only eight people aboard, is the setting for "Outward Bound," famous stage play by Sutton Vane, which opened yesterday at the Ohio Theater as a Warner Bros and Vitaphone production.

The play is scheduled for further showings this afternoon and tonight.

Rated by many critics as one of the 10 best talkies of 1930, "Outward Bound" keeps the audience's attention from start to finish due to the uniqueness of the plot and to the excellent acting from every person in the cast.

The high spot of the picture, and one that fairly makes one's hair stand on end, is where Leslie Howard, a wastrel, asks Scrubby, the kindly steward, if it weren't true that "we are . . . we are dead, aren't we Scrubby?"

LOLA LANE

GARY COOPER

And that is the plot of the picture. Five of the eight people on board the boat are dead, "quite dead," as Scrubby told the wastrel. Two others, a sweetheart couple played by Douglas Fairbanks Jr. and Helen Chandler, are "half-ways," people who have attempted to commit suicide. The eighth is Scrubby, a half-way who must forever live on the boat as its steward never being able to return either to the world or to reach the world beyond.

The sweethearts finally are snatched from a deathly state when their faithful dog, Laddie, breaks a pane of glass leading to the room where they had turned on the gas in an effort to escape the realities of life. Laddie's act comes after the Examiner visits the boat judges all of the dead people and refuses to pass upon the half-ways who apparently are doomed to stay on the boat forever.

Others in the cast, all of whom give notable performances, are Beryl Mercer, Alec B. Francis, Alison Skipworth, Lyonel Watts, Montagu Love and Dudley Digges.

A Vitaphone Variety, "The Nags Go South," and Graham McNamee's Universal Newsreel complete the program. G W

David Belasco, wizard of the American theater, produced "The Big Fight," coming to the Ohio Friday and Saturday with Jack Dempsey and Estelle Taylor in the stellar roles.

Now James Cruze steps in and films the story with Lola Lane, Quinn Williams and Stepin Fetchit in the leading roles. The picture is based on boxing - fisticuffs—not crating.

Although the boxing platform is generally referred to as "the ring" there is no ring. Yet the term persists, and few fight fans know how the term came into pugilistic parlance. In making the picture, the scenario writer tracked down the origin of the term, "the ring."

He found that in the "good old days" there was a ring - formed by those looking on. Inside this circle, the fighters battled—in the days when a round indicated that one of the contestants had been sent sprawling to the floor. Gradually this circle became squared, and thus arose another popular term, the "squared circle."

Stepin Fetchit, the colored boy who made thousands when he first went into pictures, and spent them like running water, has been writing a book for months and will complete the job soon. He calls his brainchild "The Dancing Fool from Dixie." In this picture he is seen first as a janitor in a barber shop, and later as a handy man around a prize ring.

"Fighting Caravan," Story of Old West, Taken from Zane Grey Novel.

THE studios seem to have gone "pioneering." They're all turning out "daring conquests of the pioneer west," but as long as Gary Cooper heads the cast, we're willing to let them "pioneer." Cooper's latest picture, "Fighting Caravans," comes to the Palace Friday and Saturday.

Lily Damita, Ernest Torrence, Fred Kohler and Tully Marshall are cast with Cooper.

Press sheets assure us that all whiskers appearing in this picture are real, every male actor electing to wear his own chin decoration rather than borrow from the studio make-up department.

The picture was filmed against the majestic backgrounds of the California High Sierras and carried on the tradition instituted by "The Covered Wagon." A Zane Grey story furnished material for the plot.

Hemorrhoids

How to End Painful Piles Without Salves or Cutting

Thousands of Pile sufferers have learned that quick and permanent relief can only be accomplished with an internal medicine. Neither salves or cutting remove the cause.

Bad circulation of the blood in the lower bowel causes piles. The veins are flabby, the bowel walls weak—the parts almost dead. To end Piles an internal medicine must be used to stimulate the circulation and strengthen the affected parts.

Dr. J. S. Leonhardt was the first to discover a real internal Pile remedy. He called his prescription HEM-ROID and prescribed it for 1000 patients with the marvelous record of success in 960 cases, and then decided every Pile sufferer should be able to get HEM-ROID from their own druggist with a rigid money-back guarantee.

Dr. Leonhardt's prescription has a wonderful record of success right in this city and Henney & Cooper invites every Pile sufferer to try HEM-ROID and guarantees to refund the purchase price if it does not end all Pile misery.—Adv.

STATE DRY OFFICE TO BE REORGANIZED

Sears Confers with Beetham; Some Salaries May Be Increased.

By International News Service

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 5—Reorganization of the state prohibition department "in line with efficiency that is necessary" will start Monday, Clarence H. Sears of Chillicothe, the new commissioner, whose appointment was confirmed by the senate yesterday with only one dissenting vote, announced today.

Commissioner Sears paid his first visit to his new office today, talked awhile with Prohibition Commissioner Rupert R. Beetham, and beyond stating that "we may find it advisable to increase some salaries in the interests of efficiency" was unwilling to discuss his program.

Only Senator Joseph N. Ackerman, Republican of Cleveland, wet leader, voted against confirmation of Sears yesterday.

"I'll have to vote against confirmation, not because I am opposed to the man, but to the office," Senator Ackerman said.

"In a few days I am going to show the senate just how unnecessary this department has become," he declared.

Though long an ardent dry, Sears has no intention of forcing everyone to quit drinking, he said today.

Sears has been affiliated with dry workers since 1909. That year he campaigned against liquor in local option elections, but the movement was defeated.

BUCKEYES TO OPEN DIAMOND PRACTICE

COACH PESSIMISTIC OVER OUTLOOK FOR OHIO BASEBALL NINE

Wes Fesler Expected To Again Lead Team; Hurlers Are Scarce.

By The Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, O. Feb 5—The thud of baseballs landing in mitts will resound throughout Ohio State university's massive stadium tomorrow as Coach Glenn Wright calls his candidates for the 1931 team for the first intensive drill of the season.

Getting the jump on their big league brothers, the Ohio State diamond men have been working out two or three times a week for the last three weeks but tomorrow Wright will take an active hand in the practice to get a line on available material for the coming campaign.

Although he has eight lettermen back in the fold Wright displays little optimism over the chances of his team this year, voicing an opinion that it will be weaker than the club which finished fifth in the Western conference last year.

Hurlers in Demand

Wright will be compelled to find several outfielders, another catcher or two and several pitchers, having only Ervin, Wrigley and Kermode back from last year's hurling staff. Gould, a relief catcher during 1930, probably will assume the backstopping duties. Other lettermen back will be Baumgardner, outfield; Cline, third base; Fesler, second base and Fichter, third base.

As in football and basketball, Fesler may be switched around to fill a vacancy where most needed. Last year he started at first base, was changed to the outfield and finished the season playing second. For two years Fesler has won the trophy offered for the most runs and the most runs driven in.

Face 16 Game Sked

Ohio State faces a 16 game schedule, playing three intersectional games, one each with Cornell and University of California at Columbus and meeting Navy at Annapolis in the last game of the season.

State will open its season with Ohio Wesleyan university at Delaware on April 4, and the Bishops will play a return engagement here on April 11.

BIDS FOR HONOR

Haley, Heidelberg Forward, Averaging 13 Points a Game.

TIFFIN, O., Feb. 5—Dwight Haley, of Tiffin, who was the scoring ace in Ohio college football last fall, is now bidding for the high scoring honors of the state in basketball.

Haley, who plays forward on the Heidelberg college court team, has already amassed a total of 106 points in the eight games played so far this season, making an average of 13 points per game. Last week Haley accounted for 21 points against Toledo university.

IT wont be long now. The Marion baseball commission is coming out of its hibernation period to open preliminary arrangement for the coming baseball season on the local sand lots. Next Monday night has been set by the commission for the first session.

It will be quite some time probably before any action is taken relative to the actual baseball playing schedule. The commission will make arrangements first for the annual spring banquet and election of a new commission for the coming season. The rules and regulations of the city baseball require, unfortunately I think, that a new commission be elected just previous to the opening of the baseball season.

* * *

President N. E. Crissinger is calling the initial meeting of the commission this year about a month earlier than has been the case heretofore. Criss is anxious of getting things started and a new commission elected early enough to allow everything to be in shape for a big opening of play sometime in April. That is quite a long time yet but in the past things have never been quite ready to go when the opening date rolled around.

* * *

While speaking of electing a new commission of few evils of the present system of electing the members of the board come to mind. The biggest one is the naming of an entirely new commission each year. It so happens that this new commission may include any or all of the old members but there is nothing to require the inclusion of these experienced men on the incoming board. After a man has served on the commission for a year and learned the ropes it isn't good business to take a chance on his being thrown out at the end of the year.

* * *

As a suggestion for a better method of electing an incoming commission, I suggest that the election be arranged as to cause one-third of the 12 members to be reelected each year. This method would assure a majority of men on the commission who are acquainted with the business of running the game here and would eliminate the possibility of a complete set of inexperienced members.

I'm good at changing things. I'd make a good reformer, don't you think?

Y-INDUS IS WINNER OVER DELAWARE FIVE BY 44 TO 33 SCORE

Defeat Is Losers' First Setback in 41 Starts; Locals Always on Top.

EVERYBODY makes mistakes at some time or other. The Jameson Electrics' basketball team made one when they booked a game with the Shovel Y-Indus team of Marion. The Shovel club handed the Delaware quintet its first setback in 41 starts last night on the Shovel gym court. The final score was 44 to 33 but even this does not represent the wide difference between the two clubs.

At no stage of the game was the Y-Indus in danger of being beaten although it was outscored in two of the four periods.

Started Game Fast

Opening the game with the first string lineup on the floor the Marion club turned loose a smooth working offense that left the Electricians far behind before the first period was completed. The eventual winners ran up a total of 12 markers before the invaders scored a point. Martin finally dropped through a two-pointer just before the first frame was finished. The score at the quarter was 14-2. Lockwood, Y-Indus pivot man, dumped in the first three points for Marion before the opening period was well started. After that the scoring was evenly divided.

Score at Half 22-12

The Marion club slowed down slightly in the second period and the Delaware five worked a little smoother with the result that the scoring advantage for the period went to the Electricians by a 10-8 margin. The total score at the half was 22-12.

With the first team again on the floor the Y-Indus opened another scoring drive in the third period that netted 16 points against 3 for the opposition to bring the count at the three-quarter mark to 38-15.

The second stringers were injected into the fray for the largest part of the final period and the Delaware five took the upper hand in scoring. G. Johnson broke loose for five baskets in rapid succession and C. Evans added another trio of two-pointers.

Win Streak Snapped

The lead of the locals was too much of an obstacle to overcome in the one period and the Delaware five took the first defeat in 41 games.

WALDO BASKETEERS TRAVEL TO MARTEL

Latter Conflict To Have Bearing on Eastern Half Championship Winner.

BY BOB KIRKPATRICK
Sports Editor, The Star

HEADLINING the usual Friday night schedule of the Marion county basketball league this week will be a double header attraction on the Pleasant township school court between Pleasant and Morral. All other games in the county will take second place to this twin bill. The Morral boys, who have been leading the league all season, will be fighting to gain an unbroken streak of five consecutive victories and Pleasant will be battling just as hard to keep in the running for the Western district title.

Pleasant is in second place now and a victory over Morral would give them a chance, although not a good one, to get into the top post before the playing schedule is completed. Pleasant, with the usual home floor advantage is given an even chance to upset the Morral netters. The biggest problem for the second place team is figuring a defense to stop Heller, the scoring ace of the Morral outfit. Few teams have succeeded in doing this thing in past games this season.

Girls Also Even

The girls' outfits of the two schools are expected to also put on a good game as both are fairly high in the standings. Morral is in second place and Pleasant trails in third.

Another twin program in which Western division schools will figure will match the tail-end teams of both the boys and girls division Green Camp and LaRue. The losers of these two games will be prohibitive favorites to cop the cellar championship of the league. The Green Camp boys have won only a single game this season while the LaRue and Green Camp girls and the LaRue boys have yet to crash the victory column.

In the Eastern section of the circuit, Martel and Waldo will occupy the spotlight in a pair of games booked for the Martel court. The Martel and Waldo boys are engaged at present in a hot fight for first place and the winner of the Friday contest will have a good chance to cop the bunting.

The Waldo and Martel girls will battle it out in a game that means little as far as championship honors are concerned. The Martel girls, champions of the league in 1930, have flopped terribly this year and have yet to win a game. Waldo has done considerably better than the wearers of the green, having broken even in four games.

Due To Win One

Despite the fact that Waldo is the possessor of the more impressive record to date, the Martel girls rate at least an even chance of winning. In Mary Ellen Reed, Martel has probably the cleverest forward in the circuit and her running mate, Rodock, will hold her own with the majority of guards. Inasmuch as the Waldo guards are quite weak this season, the Martel forwards should collect a lot of points. The Martel guards also are capable of playing on even terms with the Waldo opponents so it looks like Martel may enter the win column for the first time Friday.

The Martel boys, on account of their superior passwork and home floor advantage will also rate a slight favorite over the Caris-paced Waldo outfit.

The fourth program of the Friday schedule will see Kirkpatrick visiting Caledonia for a pair of games that at this time appear fairly even. Neither the boys' nor the girls' teams of the two schools are unusually strong but all are fairly capable. The results of both games are uncertain.

LUTHERANS LOSE FIVE CAGE STARS

By The Associated Press.

SPRINGFIELD, O., Feb. 5—Wittenberg college's hope of an undefeated basketball season went glimmering today with five varsity players on the bench by order of the faculty.

The team was virtually wrecked by the faculty's action, which came as a result of the players' poor scholastic grades during the first semester. The ineligibles are Clair Eisle of Akron, forward and second high scorer; Robert Smith, of Springfield, second string forward; Norman Torlina of Springfield, sophomore forward; Bob Koenigh of Wapakoneta, star center; and Jack Robby of Springfield, sophomore guard.

The Lutherans still have six games to play.

Company B Is Victor in Eleventh Straight

The Company B basketball team annexed its eleventh consecutive victory last night on the Armory court, winning easily from Mt Victory by a 37 to 26 score. Lantz, a guard was high scorer with 14 points.

The Marion Business College girls defeated the Waldo High school girls in a preliminary game 16 to 15. Stine of Waldo was high scorer with 11 points.

Offers McLarnin Fight with Minneapolis Pug

ROBINSON - SHIIMKUS SIGNED FOR MAIN GO OF GRAPPLING CARD

BY KARL R. McELROY

AS the boys used to say "Remember the Maine," so wrestling promoters here are asking the fans to remember the semi-final.

And what a semi-final it was! Fast, rough and full of action, the bout had fans on their collective feet all the time.

Two weeks ago Clyde Robinson of St. Louis and Joe Shimkus of Boston make their initial appearances on the local mat. Their match was so good that local promoters are throwing them together again in the main-go of next Monday night's mat program.

Only Match Announced

The Robinson-Shimkus match is the only one of the four matches which has been announced as completed. There will be a semi-final and two preliminary matches. Some new talent may be brought in these engagements, promoters say.

Shimkus, even though he comes from the over-cultured and beaneating village of Boston, is a regular "Roughhouse Pete" in the ring. A short time ago he outroughed "Gentle John" Kilonis; which, by the way, is the 'nth degree in roughing.

Looks Pretty Good

This Robinson boy is a red-blooded clean-cut and bold boy of the middle west (not a talking picture). Anyhow, taking the match a couple of weeks ago as a basis of comparison, St. Louis Clyde is plenty able to take care of himself. Willing to take loads of punishment, he also is willing to mix it up to the limit.

The first meeting between the two on the local mat resulted in a 30-minute draw. Fans are looking forward to one of the big action bouts of the season.

The bouts will be staged at the Steam Shovel gym. The first preliminary will get under way at 8:30 p. m.

WHAT A WALLOP!

Swings at Golf Ball So Hard He Breaks a Leg.

By The Associated Press.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Feb. 5—Stewart Turner broke a leg hitting a golf ball yesterday.

Turner addressed his ball on number seven tee at the Country club, swung mightily and found himself on the ground with a broken leg.

In astonishment he watched the ball trickle over the edge of the tee and a divot sail out over the fairway.

By United Press.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 5—Although the Buckeye conference basketball race was somewhat shaken by Ohio Wesleyan's loss to Miami this week, the standing of the five-team league is still clear-defined—with Wesleyan securely at the top and Miami securely at the bottom.

Mathematically speaking, it will be a difficult task to prevent Ohio Wesleyan from winning the championship. Only nine games remain to be played in the league. The Methodists have three games left and need win only two of them to insure at least a tie for first place.

By winning two of the three games—with Ohio University, Cincinnati and Denison—Wesleyan could be tied for the title only in the event that one of the other teams win the rest of its games. The Bishops will not play another conference game until Feb 11.

By The Associated Press.

EVANSTON, Ill., Feb. 5—One more football coach is out of the market. Dick Hanley has decided to return to Northwestern.

At Spokane, Wash., yesterday, Hanley said he believed his best opportunities were at Northwestern. Athletic Director K. L. Wilson returned the compliment by saying:

"We are heartily pleased with Hanley's work at Northwestern. We feel he is one of the best coaches in the country and expect to have him with us a long time."

The Stars Say—

For Friday, Feb. 6

WHILE there may be a fairly lively state of affairs on this day, judging by the lunar transits, yet there are many adverse and hazardous signs. A disruptive or radical situation may suddenly be present, with unfavorable bearing on conditions generally. There are perils in employment and menace to finance, as well as an unfortunate reaction on the purely private relations. Strange propositions and personalities are warned against also speculation and excesses.

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for a year of some sudden visitation which may be disruptive to plans and upsetting to the environment and peace of mind. Strange projects may lure, under a degree of pressure and personal impetus, but the situation is precarious to funds, employment and private happiness. A child born on this day may be energetic, fond of adventure and strange experiences, but these may prove detrimental to its stable success and personal progress and happiness. It should have frugality, responsibility and steadiness instilled in its early years.

CHAPLIN NOT "TALKIE" FOE

Says New Pictures Have Merit, Although He'll Never Appear in One.

By International News Service.

NEW YORK, Feb 5—Charlie Chaplin, wordless comedian for years recorded as an arch-foe to the talking motion pictures, today spoke up for the "talkies."

"I am not opposed to the talking moving picture as an invention and am planning perhaps to direct a screen drama with dialogue for my next production," Chaplin said in an interview. "However, I shall not appear in the picture."

Screenland's first pantomimist has arrived here for the opening of his latest picture "City Lights," interpreted by critics as a defiance to the talkie industry. The picture has sound—music composed by Chaplin himself—but no dialogue. There is also a "gurgling" scene in it which Chaplin admitted was a satire on the talkies.

States His Views

Chaplin's first publicly announced conversion to the talkies was tinctured with his traditional individual viewpoint.

"The talkies have a great deal of vitality—they have added something to the silent medium," he said "Of course, they are here to stay—but I prefer to appear without dialogue. If I ever do a talkie it will not be as Charlie Chaplin."

"I simply feel that my picture is something to entertain and the public will come to see it even if there are no words to it," he said.

Talkies Easier, He Says

"Talkies are easier to make. I don't think there is the same beauty in talkies as in silent pictures."

His plan to direct a dialogue picture was based on a desire to experiment with a new artistic medium, he said.

GUARD CROSSINGS

Erie Installs Flasher Lights at Richwood Streets.

As a safety measure for highway traffic, the Erie Railroad has installed modern flash-light crossing signals at Franklin, Ottawa and Grove streets in Richwood.

The signals are visible from a distance of 2,500 feet from the crossing. A motorist should never cross tracks while the signals are flashing, even though a train has just passed. Unless there is a second train on the tracks, the signals will cease flashing immediately after the train has passed, railroad officials warn.

Class Gives Shower, Elects New Officers

BEECH, Feb. 5—The Willing Workers class of Salem Evangelical church surprised Mrs Henry Baldauf last night. A handkerchief shower was given her. It was her birthday. Mrs. Harry Tuttle had charge of the devotionals. The following officers were named: president, Mrs. Ivah Klinefelter; vice president, Mrs. Mary Sergant; secretary, Mrs. Dora Ault; treasurer, Mrs. Alma Gilson. A social hour was then enjoyed.

To End a Cough In a Hurry, Mix This at Home

To end a stubborn cough quickly, it is important to soothe and heal the inflamed membranes, get rid of the germs and also to aid the system inwardly to help throw off the trouble.

For these purposes, here is a home-made medicine, far better than anything you could buy at 3 times the cost. From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey to fill up the pint. This takes but a moment, and makes a remedy so effective that you will never do without, once you have used it. Keeps perfectly, and children like it.

This simple remedy does three necessary things. First, it loosens the germ-laden phlegm. Second, it soothes away the inflammation. Third, it is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes. This explains why it brings such quick relief, even in the obstinate bronchial coughs which follow cold epidemics.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

TOOTS AND CASPER — BY JIMMY MURPHY

HELLO! IS THIS MR. ALGERNON LIONEL GAYBOY? I'M MR. CASPER- YOU DON'T KNOW ME, BUT I WANT TO ASK IF YOU LOST A PACK OF LETTERS RECENTLY!
YES, I DID, AND I'M MOST ANXIOUS TO FIND THEM-
THAT'S HIM! HE DESCRIBED THE LETTERS TO A T! HE'S CALLING FOR THEM IN THIRTY MINUTES!
YOU BETTER TIE UP ALL THE LETTERS WITH THAT PINK RIBBON THAT WAS AROUND THEM WHEN YOU FOUND THEM- GEE, HIS LETTERS TO HIS GIRL ARE FULL OF ROMANCE.
I'M CURIOUS TO SEE HIM! I'LL BET HE'S TALL AND HANDSOME- IF HE LOOKS AS GOOD AS HE WRITES HE MUST BE A SWELL BOY!
I'M ANXIOUS TO GET A LOOK AT HIM MYSELF! HE'S DUE HERE ANY MINUTE NOW! SHH! I HEAR FOOTSTEPS!
TAP TAP
AH! THE DOOR-BELL IS RINGING! THIS IS WHERE WE SEE ALGERNON LIONEL GAYBOY IN PERSON! DON'T TELL HIM WE READ HIS LOVE LETTERS, AND PINCH ME IF I START TO LAUGH!
WE HAD TO LOOK THROUGH THE LETTERS TO FIND OUT WHO THEY BELONGED TO!

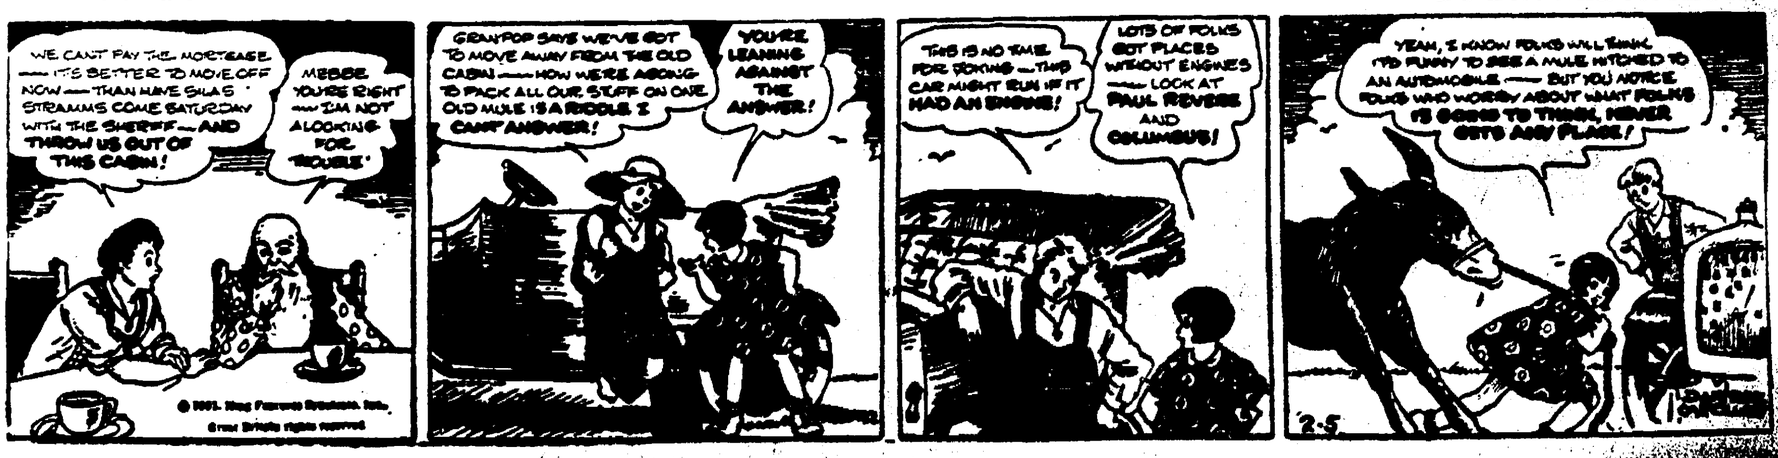
ANNIE ROONEY — BY DARREL McCLURE



WE CAN'T PAY THE MORTGAGE — IT'S BETTER TO MOVE OFF NOW — THAN HAVE SILAS STRAMMS COME SATURDAY WITH THE SHERIFF — AND THROW US OUT OF THIS CABIN!
MEBBE YOU'RE RIGHT — I'M NOT ALOOKING FOR TROUBLE
© 1931, King Features Syndicate, Inc., Great Britain rights reserved
GRANPOP SAYS WE'VE GOT TO MOVE AWAY FROM THE OLD CABIN — HOW WE'RE GOING TO PACK ALL OUR STUFF ON ONE OLD MULE IS A RIDDLE I CAN'T ANSWER!
YOU'RE LEANING AGAINST THE ANSWER!
THIS IS NO TIME FOR JOKING — THIS CAR MIGHT RUN IF IT HAD AN ENGINE!
LOTS OF FOLKS GOT PLACES WITHOUT ENGINES — LOOK AT PAUL REVERE AND COLUMBUS!
YEAH, I KNOW FOLKS WILL THINK I'D FUNNY TO SEE A MULE HITCHED TO AN AUTOMOBILE — BUT YOU NOTICE FOLKS WHO WORRY ABOUT WHAT FOLKS IS GOING TO THINK, NEVER GETS ANY PLACE!

CONSIDER PAROLES

Two Marion County Inmates To Get Release Hearing.

Parole hearings for two inmates of London prison farm, sentenced from Marion county last March, are scheduled by the state board of clemency for March 26.

The two are Howard Brockover, sentenced on March 30 for illegal possession, third offense, and Ben Brown, sentenced on March 11 for burglary.

Each was given a year in the penitentiary but later they were transferred to the prison farm. In addition to the penitentiary sentence, Brockover was given a $500 fine.

Today in Marion Markets

Groceries, Produce, Meat, Grain, Livestock

Another was added to a long series of butter price cuts today when the retail market dropped two cents, landing butter at a price range of 31 to 34 cents a pound.

With retail butter prices at this figure, farmers are getting very little for butterfat. Prices have varied since late last fall, when the demand for both butter and eggs fell off.

Low butter and egg prices have killed the sale of butter substitutes and storage eggs. Holders of storage eggs in cities are flooding the market with these preserved eggs, forcing abnormally low prices still lower

Major Copeland illustrated his talk with a map of the war sector and gave an interesting survey of the part played by the American soldiers in the attack at St. Mihiel.

RAIN FORECAST CAUSES DROP

Wheat Declines in Early Trading in Chicago Wheat Pit.

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Feb. 5—Forecasts of rain or snow likely to afford widespread relief from drouth in domestic winter wheat territory turned grain prices downward early today. A reduction of 20,000,000 bushels in estimates of the Argentine wheat exportable surplus, however, tended to check selling pressure. Opening unchanged to ¼c lower, wheat afterward underwent an additional sag. Corn started ¼ off to ⅛ up, and subsequently showed declines all around

Weather developments dominated wheat trade the greater part of the time, but the market had more of a two-sided character than of late. In the face of a prospective breakup of domestic drouth conditions, though, price rallies failed to hold well. Some buying was associated with Winnipeg reports of scarcity of moisture for two and one-half months back. Reduction of the Argentine exportable wheat surplus was attributed to a wet harvest.

European wheat supplies were reported gradually disappearing. Advices from Germany said changes in milling requirements would permit use of a larger percentage of foreign wheat. Further buying of Canadian wheat for France was also noted. Corn and oats were governed largely by wheat action.

Provisions scored gains owing to temporary dearth of offerings, but subsequently reacted.

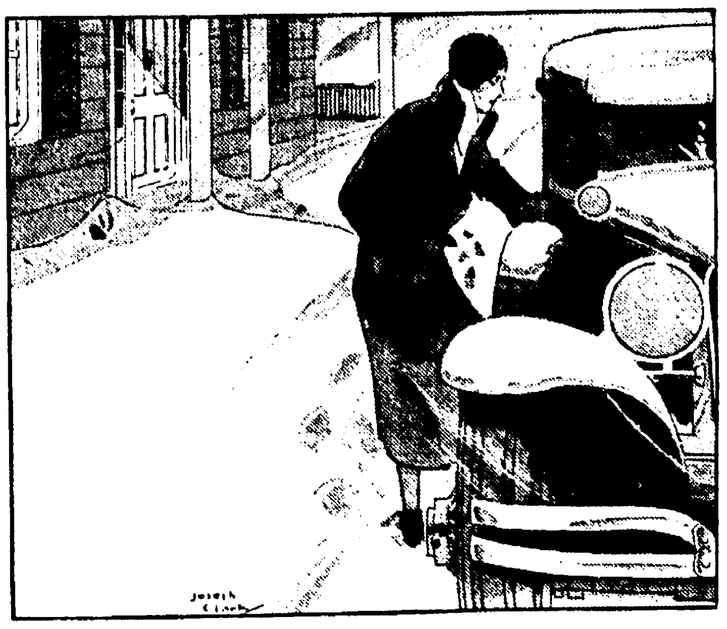
AUNT HEPPY NEVER KNEW

1 . . . when in the midst of the bridge-table chatter, you suddenly find it's five of four, and Aunt Heppy is due on the four-five . . .

2 . . . and the dear old lady has never been in town before and is so easily confused when she's away from home . . .



3 . . . and the car has been standing out there in the cold for—well, it must be HOURS. And wouldn't it be awful if you couldn't get it started . . .

4 . . . but you find you CAN, and with the first twirl of the starter, too! THEN aren't you glad you stopped this morning for both Sohio Extra-Ethyl and Sohio Motor Oil!

WHAT a welcome sensation it is these days to step on the starter and have the motor come to life, just as it did in the middle of July. That's because Cold Weather Sohio has 35% extra starting power for winter driving.

But you can't expect quick getaway just because you use a quick-starting motor fuel. You must have, in addition, an oil that goes into action the minute you touch the starter. And Sohio Motor Oil does just that. It flows freely on the coldest days . . . lets icy cold motors spin easily . . . gives the gasoline a chance to start quickly.

Use this pair of winter champions together.

10,000 IMMUNE TO DIPHTHERIA

Sifritt Gives Report; Tobin Rehired at Health Board Meeting.

"With close to 10,000 persons in Marion and Marion county immune from the disease, we feel secure so far as diphtheria is concerned," Dr. N. Sifritt, city and county health commissioner, reported at the monthly meeting of the city board of health yesterday afternoon.

Dr. Sifritt and assistants have just completed a busy month in Marion and Marion county schools in an immunization program that reached 1,908 students, he reported. The total reached in the month swelled the number of immunized persons in the county close to the 10,000 mark, with school students practically all immune.

The Shick test revealed that persons who believed themselves immune as a result of the toxin-anti-toxin treatment were not always protected against the disease. Only in rare instances does the toxin-anti-toxin fail, but it is well to have persons thus treated tested again, Dr. Sitfritt said.

Two maternity wards were given permits to operate in Marion during 1931. They are the City hospital and the Dr. Frederick C. Smith clinic on East Church street.

C. M. Tobin, sanitary policeman, was rehired for the ensuing year with one dissenting vote. Dr. S. W. Mattox opposed a motion hiring Tobin.

Concentrating his efforts on bringing dairy farms producing milk and other products to be sold in Marion to a higher level of sanitation and efficiency, Dr. J. T. Gruber ordered 48 farmers to improve and repair their cow barns his January report shows.

Fourteen persons were refused permits to market their dairy products in this city, five of whom were later given permits when unsatisfactory conditions on their farms were remedied.

The bacteria count of milk sold in Marion last month was swelled to 29,000 by a sample of raw milk which ran a bacteria count of 160,000, according to Dr. Gruber's report. The pasteurized milk count ran around 18,000, close to a health figure.

Safe Swift Way To Lose Fat

How would you like to lose 15 pounds of fat in a month and at the same time increase your energy and improve your health?

How would you like to lose a load of unhealthy fat that you don't need and don't want and at the same time feel better than you have for years?

How would you like to lose your double chin and your too prominent hips and at the same time make your skin so clean and clear that it will compel admiration?

How would you like to get your weight down to normal and at the same time develop that urge for activity that makes work a pleasure and also gain in ambition and keenness of mind?

Get on the scales today and see how much you weigh—then get an 85 cent bottle of Kruschen Salts which will last you for 4 weeks. Take one half teaspoonful in a glass of hot water before breakfast every morning—cut out pastry and fatty meats—go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar—and when you have finished the contents of this first bottle weigh yourself again.

Now you can laugh at the people who pay hundreds of dollars to lose a few pounds of fat—now you will know the pleasant way to lose unsightly fat and you'll also know that the 6 vitalizing salts of Kruschen have presented you with glorious health.

After that you'll want to walk around and say to your friends,—"One 85 cent bottle of Kruschen Salts is worth one hundred dollars of any fat person's money."

Leading druggists America over sell Kruschen Salts—you can always get it at Bradley's Drug Store, or Henney & Cooper's. Try one bottle—if not supremely satisfied—money back.

Mrs. Betty Luedeke of Dayton, writes, "I am using Kruschen to reduce weight—I lost 10 pounds in one week and cannot say too much to recommend it."—Adv.

Growing Deaf With Head Noises? Try This.

If you are growing hard of hearing and fear catarrhal deafness, or if you have roaring, rumbling, hissing noises in your ears, go to Henney & Cooper or your druggist and get 1 oz. of Parmint (double strength) and add to it ½ pint of hot water and a little sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy, and the mucous stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to take. Anyone who is threatened with catarrhal deafness or who has head noises should give this prescription a trial.—Adv.

FIND SUBSTITUTE TO REPLACE VITAMIN A

University of W. Va. Discovers Synthetic Formula for Growth Factor.

By The Associated Press.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Feb. 5 —A synthetic substitute for vitamin A, the growth factor, has been found at the University of West Virginia.

The substance is a combination of iodine, fats and iron. There is nothing mysterious about it. Thus far it has been tried only on rats and the results were obtained quite simply by giving them along with meals ferrous oxide which contains the iodine and iron and linoleic acid, which has the fats.

In reporting the discovery to the American Association for the Advancement of Science Dr. F. E. Chidester says "without forcibly feeding the animal, we have demonstrated that for those that will consume the linoleic acid and ferrous oxide combination there is apparent ability to synthesize vitamin A."

Apparently the chemicals contain about the same substances as vitamin A, for the scientist explains the vitamin is rich in unsaturated fats, iodine, iron and a number of other minerals. He kept rats which otherwise would have died for lack of vitamin A, alive for 10 months merely by feeding them ferrous oxide. But they failed to grow.

When the fats were added the response was almost magic. Some of the rats were nearly dead, but they showed improvement in three days.

WHEN YOU GET INDIGESTION

Here Is Safe, Speedy Relief

If you ever have gas, flatulence, uncomfortable "fullness" after eating or your stomach burns after eating don't just wait for the discomfort to pass off. Digestive trouble is nearly always due to excess acid in the stomach which interferes with digestion, ferments food, attacks the stomach lining and may be soon followed by dangerous stomach ulcers. You can avoid this danger and promptly relieve discomfort by taking a little "Bisurated" Magnesia—either powder or tablets—after meals or whenever you feel sour. Excess acid is instantly neutralized, fermentation stops, gas is dispersed, pain disappears and the sore inflamed stomach lining is soothed and strengthened. Indigestion, however mild, should never be ignored, and sufferers should follow the practice of thousands all over the world, by getting a 25-cent package of "Bisurated" Magnesia from Henney & Cooper or the nearest drug store. Its use means complete stomach ease and freedom from acid indigestion.—Adv.

PREVIOUS TO 1931 THE BIBLE had been translated into 585 languages. Now the 586th is added, that of the Indian aborigines of Guatemala.

This language, caleld the "Mam" tongue, dates from the ancient Mayas and is hard to learn.

One verse from St. John, according to the Rev Dr. North, would read:

The word "Dios" in that text evidently is borrowed from the Spanish, the Guatemalan Indians perhaps having no name for the Christian kind of God.

Guatemalan Indians, like the North American Indians when Catholic fathers visited them long ago, will be interested principally in the biblical descriptions of fights and victories. The destruction of the walls of Jericho, and the command, "Slay and spare not," including men, women and children, will appeal to their primitive religious instinct.

But some undoubtedly will read the Sermon on the Mount, which will do them good, if they know what it is about.

ASKS AID FOR WORK PROGRAM

State Creates 500 Jobs in Highway Department To Relieve Unemployment.

By International News Service

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 5—Request will be made for emergency financial aid from the legislature to carry out a public works program in the state welfare department as a means of relieving Ohio's unemployment situation, Adjutant General Frank Henderson, chairman of Governor George White's emergency relief cabinet, declared today.

Funds to begin improvements at Dayton, Longview and Athens state hospitals and at the Apple Creek institution for the feebleminded immediately will be asked as soon as the necessary amount is determined and the approval of the governor's relief committee is obtained according to Henderson.

The adjutant general pointed out that unless an emergency appropriation bill is hastened through the legislature, the welfare department, under the direction of John McSweeney, will be unable to cooperate in supplying odd jobs for the unemployed of the state until the regular appropriation bill is passed in two or three months.

Scores of jobs in state game preserves and fish hatcheries were to be added today to $18-a-week highway jobs created for nearly 500 men yesterday in the state's first major attempt at unemployment relief.

Counties where road jobs were to be furnished are: Adams, Athens, Belmont, Brown, Clinton, Clermont, Guernsey, Gallia, Hocking, Highland, Jackson, Lawrence, Monroe, Muskingum, Morgan, Meigs, Noble, Perry, Pike, Ross, Scioto, Vinton, Washington and Jefferson.

WHITE REFUSES TO AID TAX COMMITTEE

Republicans Charged with Trying To Saddle Responsibility on Governor.

reiterated his stand of a week ago in which he said it was the duty of the general assembly to draft tax legislature but adding that he was ready and willing to confer with the committee members at any time, to expedite its preparations.

Representative Roberts took his fellow Republican members severely to task for attempting to pass the resolution. He charged they were attempting to place responsibility for the tax program on the shoulders of the Democrats.

After pointing out that the preparation of legislature is purely a legislative function under the constitution and the assembly's problem, Roberts said "If we do not meet it we are cowards."

The resolution in its original form was presented by Senator James A. Reynolds, Democrat of Cleveland, and provided a committee of five, two from the senate and three from the house, to study and prepare the legislation.

The senate taxation committee, with a Republican majority, however, so amended the resolution as to provide that the governor have representation on the committee. In the vote on the senate floor last week its author refused to vote for the amended form.

During the senate debate the Democrats accused the Republican majority with attempting to "saddle the Democratic governor" with the responsibility for drafting the new tax laws.

TO ASK INDICTMENTS OF 4 IN PEN FIRE

Franklin County Grand Jury To Hear Evidence in First Degree Murder Charges.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 5 — Indicating that he expects to seek at least four first degree murder indictments, Don S. Hoskins, Franklin county prosecutor, declared today that the state's case against the perpetrators of the Easter Monday penitentiary fire last year depends upon what six or eight convict witnesses will say under oath before the grand jury.

Details of the fire tragedy that took the lives of 320 prisoners will be unfolded to the Franklin county grand jury next month. Among the data to be presented is a report compiled by Joseph D. Clear, special investigator for the state fire marshal's office.

Among the evidence to be submitted to the grand jury, it was understood, is an alleged confession by James Raymond, Akron burglar, that he supplied the candles used in making a crude bomb to set fire to the penitentiary.

The real perpetrator of the fire—a Cleveland robber—died in the fire, it was understood. Clear learned. Clear has been investigating the prison disaster since last April.

Troy Youth Victor in Public Speaking Contest

Fredericktown Boy Represents Marion District in Future Farmers of America Event in Columbus.

P. O Bailey of Troy Township high school, Athens county, will represent Ohio in the North Atlantic regional public speaking contest of the Future Farmers of America at Springfield, Mass. as a result of his winning the state contest yesterday afternoon.

The contest was held at Ohio State University as a part of Farmers' week program. The Future Farmers band from Marion county played several numbers on the program in which 11 Ohio farm youths, including Robert C Clark of Fredericktown, competed for state honors.

Clark represented the sixth district, of which Marion is a part. He won the right to represent this district in a contest at the Central Junior high school Jan. 21 in which he defeated 13 other contestants.

200 Given Medals

Two hundred Ohio farmers were given medals last night at a banquet given by the agricultural extension service of Ohio State university during another session of the Farmers' Week program.

Potato growing honors went to the Maxwalton farms of Mansfield which produced on three acres an average of 632 bushels an acre. Matt J. Irman of East Toledo, was acclaimed champion wheat grower for 1930 with a production of 837 bushels on ten acres. This was ten bushels short of the record yield set by Urban Troeger of Defiance in 1926.

James H. Hardman, Negro farmer of Van Wert county, became champion sugar beet grower by producing 22 tons an acre.

Bond Issues Opposed

The Ohio Farm Bureau federation, meeting in conjunction with other farm groups this week, was on record today as opposed to bond issues as a means of raising funds to finance improvement of the state's welfare and penal institutions.

A resolution, adopted at the annual convention which closed here yesterday, and dealing specifically with Gov George White's recommendation that the legislature authorize a $25,000,000 issue for modernizing all state hospitals and prisons, said the bureau favored the improvements but opposed such a method of financing.

All officers of the bureau were reelected by the board of directors. They are L. R. Palmer of Pataskala, president; A. F. Moon, Shelby county, vice president; Murray D. Lincoln, Columbus, secretary, and Perry L. Green, Portage county, treasurer.

Mrs. C. R. Milnor, of Pickerington was elected woman director at large to succeed Mrs. Maggie Taylor of Mahoning county, whose term expired.

officer had "quoted inaccurately" something he heard at the Affiliated Lecture bureau in New York last November.

Giving his first explanation of his silence regarding the Mussolini incident since it brought the general a court martial summons, the young newspaper man last night said he would relate correctly what he said originally concerning the Mussolini anecdote, if called as a witness in the court martial.

General Butler in a recent Philadelphia speech charged the Italian dictator left the scene of an accident wherein an automobile in which he was riding struck a child.

Vanderbilt said he was "bound to respect the strictest confidence" surrounding several incidents related by himself and others in the New York lecture bureau.

"All but three or four persons have respected that confidence," he said. "General Butler quoted inaccurately what was said. Everything that has come out since the story was told has been garbled. There are 18 or 20 people who have remained silent.

"I will relate correctly from the witness stand what I said if General Butler or his counsel ask me to appear. So far I have told it only to the state department in a letter which they have declined to make public. I have told the state department I will appear at the court martial if it is desired. I have informed General Butler similarly."

Vanderbilt said he felt what he said in the lecture bureau had "no bearing" on General Butler's case."

WALDO FARM CLUB TO STUDY TRACTORS

Two Weeks' Course Will Be Offered by Young Men's Organization.

A two weeks' tractor short course, sponsored by the Waldo Young Men's Farming club, will start Feb. 9 at the Waldo High school. The course will consist of five half-day sessions each week, to cover questions concerning causes and methods of detecting motor trouble, grinding and adjusting valves, fitting piston rings, adjusting bearings, carburization, ignition and lubrication.

Later in the course, more general topics will be discussed, including the condition under which a tractor is the most economical source of power on the farm, the average annual depreciation on tractors, the average cost of operating a tractor per hour ,the relation of the number of hours work done per year to operating cost and the best tractor hitches for various types of work.

The course is open to anyone interested and especially to those who now own tractors or are prospective purchasers. A small fee will be charged to cover the expenses of instruction and supplies.

The work will include group discussion, demonstration and laboratory practice in actually doing the work under the supervision of an instructor.

The use of soot removed or salt in stoves to keep chimneys clean was urged by Chief McFarland. "Spread a pound of salt over a bed of hot coals, and the chemical reaction will dissolve the soot," Chief McFarland said.

Marionites were also warned not to burn paper or other light inflammable substances without using a damper on the chimney. The damper should be at least half closed when paper is burned, to prevent burning pieces of paper being sucked up the chimney to light on an unprotected roof.

Mr. Borah told the senate that it was absurd to assume that 1,500,000 drought sufferers and from 5,000,000 to 6,000,000 unemployed could be cared for by the Red Cross with such a sum as $10,000,000. It would be interesting to have the senator state who proposed to do anything of the kind. Certainly not Judge Payne of the Red Cross! Speaking for his organization, he absolutely refused to even consider the distribution of relief to the unemployed. Poor stuff, that, Mr. Borah!

American People on Trial.

"I am willing to pledge myself that if the time should ever come that the voluntary agencies of the country together with the local and state governments are unable to find resources with which to prevent hunger and suffering in my country, I will ask the aid of every resource of the federal government, because I would no more see starvation amongst our countrymen than would any senator or congressman."

With this statement by President Hoover, America's spirit of charity is placed on trial. There is no reason to believe that the President has anything in mind other than that which is obvious. If the "voluntary agencies * * * are unable to find resources," the central government must find them. He has not backed down from his positive stand that the spirit of charity, manifested in contributions to the Red Cross, is sufficient to meet the situation. He has not weakened his stand in opposition to the direct appropriation sought by some members of congress to relieve drought-sufferers and unemployed. He has only said that if the people should be so destitute or so cold-hearted that they would refuse to hear the call of need, and if the states were incapable of taking care of their citizens, that money in the federal treasury ought to be turned back to the public. He does not believe that such a thing will happen, however. Ordinary patriotism prevents any one believing that.

The decision rests with the people. The $10,000,000 fund sought by the Red Cross should have been raised long before this, and if the situation had not been muddled by ill-timed legislative offerings in congress it probably would have been. If America fails to reach the goal, a valuable principle is endangered seriously. As the President has said, "this is not an issue as to whether people shall go hungry or cold in the United States. It is solely a question of the best method by which hunger and cold shall be prevented."

The "best method" is voluntary charity. If America fails to vindicate it by generous contributions, a tremendous problem is created The first step toward the justly-dreaded dole has been taken.

An Outburst Is Predicted.

From Washington comes word that signs of an outburst on Capitol hill against the senate's weakness for investigations and its methods of conducting them are accumulating; that there are indications of growing hostility and omens that an airing of opinions is near at hand.

This feeling of hostility became noticeable during the investigation of lobbying and lobbyists, wherein the committee's adoption of high-handed methods went beyond all reasonable bounds, and each succeeding senatorial investigation has served to augment it. The seizure of private papers by that committee aroused comment, which was intensified when the committee summoned a New York City banker before it to explain why he had declared in a public address that senate delay in enacting legislation was in part responsible for business depression and the collapse of the securities markets.

The policy pursued in connection with the nomination of Judge Parker for the supreme bench and in the nomination of John J. Esch as a member of the Interstate Commerce commission was irritating to many members of congress, the disclosure regarding the $97,000 expense account of the Nye campaign expense account committee added fuel to the flames, and the course recently followed in examining Eugene Meyer, Jr., nominated for governor of the Federal Reserve board, has not served to lull resentment. So utterly without bounds was the endeavor of Senator Brookhart to have Mr. Meyer state what his policy as governor of the board would be in the event of the senate's confirmation of his nomination, that, in response to the nominee's protest, Senator Wagner broke in with:

"What would the country think if a candidate for the supreme court were questioned by the judiciary committee regarding what he would do in certain cases? It would be resented by the country as unfair."

The Nye expense account has become the subject of many pointed remarks by members of the house committee on accounts. Without identifying the committee one member asked the temporary chairman of the committee, Mr. Luce, of Massachusetts, whether the chairman of the committee on accounts would be justified "in routing a member from Island Pond, Vermont, to Chicago by way of Glacier park, Montana, and a return to Island Pond by the way of Battle Creek, Michigan?" The Nye committee, of course, was referred to, as it held sessions in Glacier park.

Another member, noting charges for unfranked telegrams, and observing that telegrams on government business may be franked, wanted to know if the charges did not indicate that they were personal messages, to which the committee chairman, Mr. Underhill, is quoted as remarking:

"That is all it amounted to publicity, publicity; and it is publicity that does not reflect credit upon the congress of the United States."

These are mere samples of the comment which goes to indicate that the time is near at hand when members of congress out of sympathy with senatorial excesses in so-called investigations are going to speak right out.

Bermuda has passed a bill to permit doctors to use automobiles. The only sanctuary in civilization has thus passed from us true aristocrats of the land!

A Washington correspondent writes that both the two old parties lack extra-session zeal; that an extra session is not really favored by over half a dozen senators. Sure not. All the membership of the senate is not chasing publicity to that extent.

When a citizen of Greenfield, Missouri, reached for his right hip pocket, the sheriff out there, assuming that the man was after a gun, shot him dead. Later it developed that the citizen was reaching for a flask of whisky, probably intending to destroy it. There's hardly any limit to the danger which lurks in whisky, particularly so since Mr. Volstead caused the country to go dry.

From Moscow comes the statement that the "exiles" at work on the "concentration labor camps" number at least 1,000,000 and that there are perhaps 200,000 more in the northern lumber camps. Haven't we heard, somewhere, at some time, the boast that Russia is the land of "liberty and equality?"

As the most severe cold wave of the season swept over northern New York and the New England states, temperatures as low as thirty-five degrees below zero being reported in the higher altitudes, budding rose bushes and ripe strawberries were reported by Mandan, North Dakota, and Winnipeg, Manitoba. Is this a vindication of the groundhog or of the birds flying northward, or should it be called a draw?

It was hardly necessary for that prominent New York business man to tell the convention of the National Retail Dry Goods association that the politicians were prolonging the business slump. Being men of more than average intelligence, the delegates could hardly have been other than aware of the fact.

Two hundred and seventy-four farmers and their wives from Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin, Michigan and Iowa are on a trip to Florida and Cuba. Apparently there are some agriculturists who are not in serious need of farm relief, possibly due to the fact that they gave more attention to farming, and less to agitation than some others engaged in that industry.

The Ford Motor company has announced that, instead of planning the abandonment of its Brazilian rubber plantation, as reported, it intends to speed up work on it So that's that, and a lot of editorial and paragraphic explanations, conjectures and conclusions have been utterly wasted.

Rev. Father Napoleon J. Gilbert, a Roman Catholic priest recently elected over his protests to the New Hampshire house of representatives, has informed that body that he will be unable to serve. No doubt the presence of a clergyman would be beneficial to the membership, but that's not saying that the associations in any legislative body would prove likewise beneficial to a man of the cloth.

THE INDIAN CRUCIBLE.

Whether one thinks much or little of Mr. Gandhi and his Indian Nationalists, it is important to realize that their rejection of the round table conference's plan for a federal constitution does not, by any means, imply the failure of that plan or even India's rejection of it. It remains to be learned whether the Nationalists or the delegates to London speak for India. The British government had to free Gandhi and his lieutenants to decide this very important question.

The Nationalists certainly show no inclination now to accept a compromise, but every sign of stiffening their campaign. But this is only the result of test, No. 1, not the final test. It now remains to be seen whether the Nationalists are the most powerful party in all India or simply the most articulate and demonstrative. If the Indian delegates returning from London are not completely overawed by the vociferous character of a renewed Swaraj campaign, they will feel more morally bound to marshall the conservatives and moderates whom they represented at the conference in support of the scheme they subscribed to there, and to do their best to convert or discredit the Gandhi opposition. This will be the final test, a struggle between the extremists and the moderates for the mastery of Indian opinion. Under the circumstances it would not be very surprising if the Indian government opened the lists even wider to give opportunity for a real "showdown," by releasing the whole army of Gandhi's political agitators, in response to his demand, so that he and his colleagues can plead no disabilities in the coming struggle.—New York Herald Tribune.

FARE REDUCTION EXPERIMENT.

The eight railroads in the Southwest and the two in the West that have announced a reduction in coach passenger fares of two cents a mile for the next three months plainly have decided not to receive the onslaughts on their business from wideawake and aggressive motorbus lines lying down. The cut is an experiment against which some roads have protested, and which some of the more conservative lines that have registered no objection seem to be hesitant about trying for themselves; but the Interstate Commerce commission is acting correctly in throwing no obstacle in the way of those roads which do want to make a reduction. The weakness of the experiment seems to us to be the time limit the roads have put upon it. Ninety days is a short period in which to rebuild passenger traffic just as the country is emerging from a depression. With general travel only now leaving the ebb three months will not give the lines time in which to get a real reaction.

If all the roads in the country, east, west, north and south would cut their coach rates and make the experimental period sufficiently inclusive, they might be surprised at the response from a public which traditionally likes to travel and enjoys the comfort, speed and safety the steam roads provide.—Detroit Free Press.

What Had Lincoln in Mind?

BY J. H. GALBRAITH.

When President Lincoln said in his first message that he could have selected his entire cabinet, a complete staff of administrative officers, and judges of the supreme court from many of the regiments he had sent into the civil war, and the country would be well served, as an indication of the high character of the men who were volunteering their services, it has been thought that he had specially in mind some of the volunteer regiments that had already gone to the front from this state such as the Twenty-Third infantry.

It is doubtful that from any state, or any single regiment, came as many men who took high positions in the public service and in life in general. It went into the service in command of W. S. Rosecrans, who was born in Delaware county, a West Point graduate who was to rise to the rank of general in the war.

Succeeding him in command of the regiment came Rutherford B. Hayes, who was to be called three times to be governor of the state, and then to be president of the republic, next James M. Conly, then and afterward a distinguished journalist of the state and later United States minister to the Sandwich islands.

Its lieutenant colonel was Stanley Matthews, who was later made an associate justice of the United States. William McKinley, who entered as a non-commissioned officer, but rose to the rank of major in the service, was to became president of the United States. Harrison Grey Otis, a junior officer in the regiment, became the owner of the Los Angeles Times, and a power in national affairs, though a private citizen, nearly all his life.

Other junior officers in the Twenty-Third well known in the state were William C. Lyon, lieutenant governor of the state; Robert P. Kennedy, who was similarly honored, and Colonel James L. Botsford, a captain of industry and a member of Governor McKinley's staff.

Diphtheria Is Preventable.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Diphtheria is a highly-contagious disease, most prevalent among children. It is a preventable disease. It is a shame to have it included among the dangers of childhood.

There has been a great reduction in the number of deaths caused by diphtheria. It is the hope and aim of all public health officials to eradicate this dangerous ailment entirely. This can be accomplished only when there is complete cooperation of the public.

This disease is caused by the diphtheria germ which finds its way to the nose or throat. There it multiplies in number. Its presence is shown by a greyish membrane which may interfere with breathing.

The germs produce a toxin, a powerful poison. This is quickly absorbed into the blood stream, causing general poisoning of the system.

The germs of diphtheria may be transferred from one person to another by kissing. This may be carried in the spray produced by coughing, sneezing and talking. Drinking cups or other utensils used by an infected person serve as a common means of transmission.

The possibility of contamination by the germs of this disease is particularly great in crowded and congested communities. Moreover, there are persons who carry these germs without knowing they have them. Such persons are spoken of as "carriers."

How can we combat this disease? Fortunately, we have at our disposal the knowledge of diphtheria "antitoxin." This is widely used in the treatment and cure.

Diphtheria may be prevented by the use of the "toxin-anti-toxin" injections. When this treatment is given, it enables children to go through life without contracting the disease, even though exposed to it.

By means of the "Schick test" we can determine whether a person, if exposed to diphtheria, will contract the disease. The procedure is simple and may be applied by any physician or by the local health bureau.

If all our people would cooperate by having their children inoculated against diphtheria, this disease would soon disappear.

We rarely hear of cases of smallpox. It is, indeed, a rarity. Nowadays most students go through medical school without ever seeing a case of smallpox. At one time this was an exceedingly common disease and caused many deaths. Since the rigid insistence upon vaccination against smallpox, this disease has become extremely rare.

Diphtheria is another disease which will disappear when we all help.—Copyright, 1931, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

The Earth's Envelope.

BY ARCHIBALD HENDERSON.

One of the most remarkable features of the environmental influence affecting the earth is the envelope which surrounds it. Comparatively little is known about this blanket, or atmosphere, as it is called, which varies from fifty to 200 miles in thickness Accurate scientific data regarding the atmosphere have been secured for only a comparatively short distance measured outward from the earth's surface.

The energy which streams out from the sun encounters our atmosphere and therein meets a formidable barrier to its further progress. A considerable portion never penetrates the atmosphere, but if reflected back into space and so is forever lost to us. Another part is absorbed and so diminished in effect upon us, in its passage through the atmosphere. A minute part of the energy finally overcomes all barriers and ultimately reaches the surface of the earth. The part absorbed by the atmosphere, singularly enough, must be counted, less as a gain, than as a loss from the store that is available for raising our air temperature. The really important and influential factor is the intensity of that part of the solar energy which actually reaches the earth's surface.

It is interesting to take account of the specific factors which impede the progress of the sun's rays. These factors, in the main, are particles of water and particles of dust. As Kendrew points out in his valuable work on climate, the water particles are the more effective obstacle. They are usually visible as cloud, and no instruments are necessary to tell us that clouds intercept the sun's heat. Even the finest film of cirrus cloud which is hardly visible has great effect, and often the sky is covered with masses of cloud which have a thickness of several miles. The passage of every cloud across the sun, especially on a bright summer day, causes a sensible fall in the air temperature.

Dust particles, and even salts in crystalline form, chiefly thrown up from the earth's surface, greatly impede the solar rays, causing a corresponding lowering of the temperature. These particles may be blown up from the earth by winds or flung into the air by volcanoes, or even condensed in the air above salt water areas, the sea-spray drying into fine salt. The heavier particles are suspended nearer the earth's surface; and the greatest amount of dust particles is found above arid lands and wind-swept deserts. Smoke, too, as well as water and dust particles, carries many solid impurities, especially over large cities and extensive grass lands which have been burnt over.—Copyright, 1931, International Feature Service, Inc.

It is estimated that there are half a million radio sets in Wurttemberg and Baden, where it is possible to receive broadcasts from all German stations and many in other European countries.

By decomposing natural gas at high temperatures and recombining its constituents, products ranging from artificial rubber and motor fuels to dyes, explosives and perfumes are being obtained.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. McINTYRE.

New York, Feb. 5—The Bowery emerges through one of the worst winters in its turbulent history, its missions shoulder the heaviest burden in more than a decade. For months the depressing breadline has been a serpentine coil circling every block.

Only the pawnbroker prospered in the dullness that shunted even a few flops and a nue dwellers to the section. A number of upstairs lodging houses had their guests beaten who once sat at glass-topped tables commanding their world by push button.

Most newcomers to the "submerged tenth" spend their first few weeks in sullen resentment. Misfortune has stunned them and the drop in lodging house chairs inarticulate. Almost all during their novitiate believe suicide offers the only panacea.

But generally in a month they begin to take an interest in life again. Like a startled dreamer swimming up from a deep well of sleep, they look about in their new world. Indeed, the lazy tempo of drifting becomes pleasant.

Every man who remains on the Bowery for a year or so becomes philosophical. He is whetter to adversity. Want becomes casual emotion and nothing matters. Those who once fumed over a fifth row seat at a first night accept a free flop on a hard floor with perfect complacence.

Social workers know that the dole is often a necessity, but just the same dangerous. Free coffee and free flops frequently dull self-respect, and when that quality is lost the problem of rehabilitation becomes more difficult than ever.

The Bowery is a human barometer that registers acutely depths of depression, but is the first to register signs of returning prosperity. When the bread line vanishes, smoke from factory chimneys is inevitable. And slowly day by day the breadline is thinning.

* * *

The philosophy of the Bowery is illustrated somewhat by the remark of a friend of Chuck Conners when that worthy passed to his reward. A group of mourners clotted in front of the blue-blobbed undertaking parlor where the body was taken. The friend sauntered up and said: "Don't worry about Chuck," he said. "He knows what it is all about now. That's more than we know!"

Any number of eating places—especially rooms—in New York operate hat and coat rooms without an attendant. A patron leaves his things when entering and picks them up on departure. Most of these places have never had a loss by theft. This careless custom, inspired by an old police known fact. A crook seldom visits a respectable modestly priced cafe. When he deserts "beaneries" to splurge, he goes to the jazziest and expensive places.

* * *

My only conscious contact with an international world swell was as a reporter with a New York paper. I accompanied a Central Office man for a surprise roundup in an apartment on West End avenue. The gentleman in dressing-gown received us in a library room. It suggested the opening act of a crook drama. After dispatching a few mysterious telephone calls and habiting himself in street dress, he accompanied his captor coolly. Under a reading lamp was the book he had turned pages down at our ring. It was one of the Elsie Dinsmore books. I stressed this observation in my report, but it was blue-pencilled. "No reader will believe that," said the city editor.

In that day—the late nineties—New York was in full gestation of poisoned needle mysteries. I was a misguided solecist who classed it all as "bunk"—a rising word in the lexicon. Then one evening on an Amsterdam avenue car I felt a stinging jab. "They got me!" I whispered to my wife. And reeled off the car into a nearby drugstore. It developed I had leaned against the sharp prong of a pants buckle.—Copyright, 1931, McNaught Syndicate, Inc.

A Washington Daybook.

BY HERBERT PLUMMER.

Washington, Feb. 5—When Elmer Thomas, Oklahoma's tall, handsome and always immaculately-groomed senator, arises in the future on the floor of senate to talk about the urgency for relief legislation, his colleagues will listen to him.

For he will speak as one with authority.

Senator Thomas, serving his first term in the senate, has interested himself deeply in conditions confronting the unemployed throughout the country. He has pending in the senate now a resolution calling for creation of a special committee of that body to have jurisdiction over relief legislation.

Representing a western state, he is taking from first-hand observation with conditions prevailing there. But the situation in the East was not quite so clear in his mind so he determined to find out for himself.

* * *

The other day he went to New York on business. Finding that he had some extra time before his train back to Washington, he decided to utilize it by personally investigating conditions in that city.

So he set out for that section of the city where the unemployed are most numerous. Starting at the Battery, he went up along the East river, in the Bowery district. There he mingled with the unemployed as one of them.

"They didn't ask any questions of me," said the senator. "Perhaps my appearance was sufficient introduction."

Hard to believe, for the Oklahoman is one of the most distinguished in appearance of any man in the senate. Straight as an arrow, his hair a fine gray, he looks always as though he had just stepped from a band box.

Anyway, the soup lines on the Bowery attracted him, and he actually went through some of them. No one appeared to challenge his right in the line.

"We went in single file," said Senator Thomas. "I reached the first wicket. And there a man tendered me a chunk of bread about two or three slices from a loaf of white bread. And his manner was kind.

"At the next wicket a man gave me a bowl of thick yellow soup. I passed on and saw the crowd and saw the class of folks who were there patronizing this soup house. A constant stream was entering, and a constant stream of humanity was leaving these houses.

"They were not kept open just an hour or two during the day. They open early and close late."

The senator laughingly remarked that his associates in the line probably thought he was a preacher and that perhaps this was the reason he was not challenged. But he thinks his experience was valuable—that he got a first-hand picture of the situation.

British Flier Tells of 7,000-Mile Trip In Air

Capt. Denis Rooke Speaks on High School Entertainment Course Program; Advises Future Aviators To Become College Graduates.

Stories of the thrilling adventures of flying 7,000 miles in a single-engined plane entertained a large audience of high school entertainment course patrons last night at Central Junior High school when Capt. Denis Rooke spoke.

Capt. Rooke togged in a flier's suit and wearing his Royal Flying Corps decoration spoke in quick clipped English accent. He was born in India of British parents.

His first fame in flying came when he made his history-making flight from England to India. It was on the first leg of this flight, from England to France, that he met Lindbergh. From France he flew to Italy and down the northern coast to Africa. At one time the engine of the plane went dead and he had to make a landing on a plain strewn with boulders and when repairs had been made, he had to clear away a space to take off.

Cairo was his next stop and from there to Jerusalem and down along the Persian gulf to India. Natives of the wilds of India thought he was a superhuman being because as he landed his plane, a flash of nightning and roll of thunder threw fright into the natives.

Capt. Rooke's advice to boys and girls who wish to take up aviation as a vocation was for them to graduate from college. The time is coming soon, he said, when only college graduates will be eligible for transport service the ultimate aim of flyers.

Marian Isaly vice president of the senior class of Harding High school introduced Capt. Rooke in the absence of the class president, Hayes Newby.

The last number on the course will be Carl Sandburg who will come here Monday night Feb. 23 to speak at the Junior High school auditorium.

Now—No More Catching Cold! Amazing New Protective Armor Kills, Bars Cold Germs From Nose, Throat, Bronchial Tubes

Wonderful, Quick Relief for Sufferers

First—you want to get rid of the cold you've got, to stop hacking and whooping, scattering germs among your friends and family, to end asthmatic tickling, catarrhal droppings and all the other nasty symptoms brought you by "cold" germs.
Second—you want to throw around yourself and over the cold-catching membranes of breathing passages, an invulnerable armor of protection, so that you'll never have another cold.

How EFF-OH Prevents Colds

Place a pea size portion of EFF-OH in each nostril. Snuff it up into the head. Feel it diffuse and spread over the linings of nose, head and throat, forming an amazing new medicated, germ-killing armor of protection that no cold germ can penetrate. Do this daily in cold-catching weather. It's easy, pleasant. You feel wonderful.

How EFF-OH Curbs Colds

EFF-OH immediately soothes and cools irritated, inflamed mucous membranes, softens and dislodges phlegm, catarrhal deposits and hardened mucous, in which cold germs thrive and propagate. It slaughters cold germs by the million. One last sneeze to eject dead organisms and cold's gone. What a blessed feeling of peace. Instead of a few moments respite you get long time relief. Instead of waiting days, entire cold goes, often overnight. You breathe freely once more, stop whooping, barking, wheezing, sneezing.

Physicians Endorse EFF-OH

EFF-OH is new. It looks like ordinary ointment but you soon find out the difference. Prominent medical authority include EFF-OH as one of the important steps to avoid ever having another cold. They say to keep body warm, avoid miasmatic places, people who have colds and sudden temperature changes. Eat regularly, get plenty of sleep and, by all means, during cold-catching weather, keep that protecting film of medicated armor, EFF-OH, applied thoroughly to breathing passages. Two pea size portions a day from big generous family tube costs a trifle.

Millions Benefit by Remarkable FREE TEST

Go to the nearest druggist at once. Demand, insist on EFF-OH. Get it to ward off tomorrow's cold. Get it quick for the cold you have now. If EFF-OH doesn't give you immediate relief, if it doesn't clear your clogged-up air passages at once, stop that wracking cough and make you feel like a new person, the manufacturer will gladly refund your money without question.

THE CRIME IN THE DUTCH GARDEN

BY HERBERT ADAMS

(Copyright, 1930, J. B. Lippincott Co.)

SYNOPSIS

A stone figure, murderously toppled over, kills Anna-belle Querdling in her Dutch garden. Jimmie Haswell, amateur detective, recalls that her friend Evelyn Blake, had confided to him regarding death threats against the spinster. The body was found by Evelyn's sister Marjorie, soon after she had left Dr Netherton, had talked with her and while, according to Evelyn, she and her friend Lionel Duckworth, were alone in the house. Janet Gray, a parlormaid, confirms Evelyn's story and helps to establish an alibi for Green, the chauffeur who with Joe Allen, a discharged gardener, is suspected. Major Gresham explains to Police Superintendent Richmond that his presence near the murder scene was due to his unrequited love for Miss Querdling, who frowned on his attendance. Constable Ross reports having seen a strange car and driver nearby on the night of the tragedy, and Green tells of encountering an automobile.

CHAPTER 8

The Borrowed Hammer

SUPERINTENDENT RICHMOND'S curiosity regarding the mysterious car Green had seen was aroused for the doctor was hardly satisfied by the meager description the chauffeur gave. It was, he said, a Morris two-seater, similar to many in the neighborhood. There was no one in the car and the top was up. The superintendent suggested that Green knowing most of the cars nearby, could say whose it was.

"There are lots of Morrises," said Green gruffly. "Like Captain Stirling's, but two Morrises in the dark are as much alike as black cats. I keep sayng I don't know." He glared at the insistent Richmond.

"I suppose the lights were on," suggested Jimmie in his friendly way. "Did you notice the number?"

"No, sir. I was running for the doctor."

But Jimmie's further inquiry revealed that when Green had returned the same way the car was gone. Jimmie exchanged significant glances with Richmond. Granting the story true, it would have been easy for a killer to hide in the shadows of the garden before escaping in a waiting car.

Then they left him and went to the gardener's cottage to verify the story of the hammer.

"That's right," Ben Acres told them. "My 'ammer wor broke. I 'ad borrowed Ted's. He coom along and fetched it."

Thus Green's explanation of his brief absence from the garage appeared confirmed. He was it appeared, at Ben's when Janet went out to the garage the first time to tell him of Lionel's singing and had returned in time to meet her on her second call.

It was, as Donald said the next morning, "a very queer business," but Jimmie smiled when he added "If Jimmie doesn't clear it up I doubt if any one will. You believe the chauffeur did it, don't you Jimmie?"

"I believe he could have done it, but that is a different thing," was the reply. "You see, there is really little to work on apart from those letters, virtually no clues. When it's poison you have an immediate field of inquiry, and in case of shooting or stabbing the weapon can be traced. But here a mass of stone is pushed on a defenseless woman below. Motives in many quarters may be alleged in the case of a dictatorial woman. The seat had been moved, but Miss Querdling might have done that herself."

Donald, Nancy and Jimmie were at breakfast on the Wade veranda overlooking the links. The tragedy was inevitably the morning's topic.

"Surely," said Nancy, "only a very strong person could throw the figure over?"

"No," said Jimmie. "We examined it very carefully—at least we examined the companion one that is undisturbed. It is beautifully balanced, but a girl could push it over. A child almost might. It fell quite five feet, and I suspect death was instantaneous."

"How terrible!" shuddered Nancy. "Who could have planned such a thing?"

"Was it planned, or was it sudden wicked impulse?" answered Jimmie. "A premeditated crime may be well thought out, but there is often some oversight, some slip, that leads to detection. The sudden seizing of an opportunity, as this may have been, is far harder to track down."

"I was sorry to hear about Mrs Frater, poor girl. Is she really bad?" inquired Nancy, changing the conversation.

"Poor girl?" echoed Jimmie. "I pictured her as fat, fair and 55. A typical cook. What is she like?"

"Not that," laughed Nancy. "She might be 27. She is not bad looking, and is really very kind. Her name is really Daphne Frater. Perhaps Daphne is not a suitable name for a cook; Miss Querdling always called her cooks Mrs. She thought it added to their dignity with the tradespeople."

"A tribute to matrimony from an unexpected source. Has Daphne a sweetheart?"

"I believe Alf Collett, the butcher's assistant, could enlighten you on that point," smiled Nancy. "Why is it queer?"

"Don't you think so? Miss Querdling fighting for general virginity and surrounded by people who will fall in love. There are the letters probably written, as Duckworth says, by two people. There is the household on the premises a policeman in the road in front. Major Gresham on the lawn and Dr Netherton in the lane. On the unexplained side we have a strange man with his car near the trade entrance seen by the constable; a cloaked woman in the garden, seen by Duckworth; and an empty car beside the fence seen by the chauffeur. Of course the cloaked woman may have come in the car. If so, who is she? Or the woman may have been a man not a difficult mistake at dusk—and the car may not exist at all! Richmond thinks Green imagined it."

"The only thing that is clear, Jimmie," laughed Donald, "is that you are fairly intrigued and you want to see it through."

Superintendent Richmond at Dr. Jimmie had arranged to meet Netherton's house at 10. There he planned to supplement the doctor's official report with questions. "A good fellow, Netherton, I suppose?"

"Very," answered Nancy, "and you'll see his dear mother. They are arranging some golf for you. And we'll get you a game with Audrey Winford, our best lady player—one of Don's old sweethearts. Wait till you see her!"

As it chanced, he was to see her quite soon. Superintendent Richmond, passing Fairways in his car, stopped to pick him up and they went straight to the doctor's house.

Dr. Netherton's abode was a little beyond the golf course on the side farthest from Merrow Craig and at the beginning of the village. Its situation had suggested its name of Corner Cottage. It was quite old and its front garden was a blaze of flowers.

The white-haired lady talking with a handsome girl was undoubtedly the doctor's mother, while Jimmie, seeing the golf bag she carried, decided her companion was Audrey Winford. He was right. The old lady explained that her son was in the surgery and would be out presently.

Audrey Winford was an attractive girl and Jimmie took to her at once, even before Mrs. Netherton introduced them. Not softly pretty, she had honest, open gray eyes and a humorous twist to her mouth. She looked self-reliant and capable.

"I must be off," she addressed Mrs. Netherton. "Tell Bill I'll expect him tomorrow afternoon." Their eyes followed her down the pathway, her graceful walk neither a stride nor a slouch.

While Jimmie was admiring Mrs. Netherton's flowers the doctor came out the surgery door. Jimmie observantly noted his good-humored face and his kindly blue eyes, not, however, missing the touch of obstinacy about the mouth.

Superintendent Richmond soon put his questions as to the medical details it would be necessary to establish at the inquest to be held on the following Monday. Bill gave the information required and everything seemed in order. Then the police officer said:

"You and Miss Blake were talking with the old lady for a few minutes, weren't you?"

"Yes. I told her about the cook."

"The cook, I understand," put in Jimmie, "is a fairly hefty young woman. You left her in bed?"

"Yes. Another 24 hours would see her all right."

"Miss Querdling," went on Richmond, "was in her usual spirits—not apprehending trouble?"

"Only the usual trouble."

"What do you mean?"

"She said when Marjorie married she would not get a penny."

There was a pause. The superintendent looked hard at him, and Jimmie had the impression that the doctor regretted his words directly he had said them.

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

BY JUDD M. LEWIS

WHEN me and Jubilee woke up this morning I was thinking how glad I was that I am on the last half of the week and that tomorrow is Friday, and then I remembered that my father had a grouch on so I pushed him out of bed and let him down as quick as I could and got into my short britches and went downstairs, because I don't want to be late when my father is feeling that way.

All the windows in the house beban rattling when I went downstairs and it was kinda warm when I let Jubilee down but the wind was blowing like a cyclone when I got outside and it was freezing cold. When the south wind turns around to come back to go down south again and get warm it is certainly cold and it goes in a hurry and I don't blame it. By the time I got to the barn with my milkpail I had to feel of my nose with my fingers to feel if it was still there.

The girls didn't come to the barn but went right in the house and were there when I went in to feed my face, and when I went in my father said, "Hurry up, Old Timer, there are some ladies come to call on you." He was so good natured that I was supprized. Then Feeble said that it was Younis that came to call on me and Maggie came along to chaperon us, and everyone but me and Younis laughed.

My mother said she had to go to the grocery for a lot of things, but my ant said she would go if I would go along to carry them. So she did and I did, and the girls went along and the bunch waited outside to hoorsw me. And while my ant was waiting she stepped on the scales and I weighed her, and whilst I was weighing her Feeble stepped on the scale behind her, and my ant looked at what she weighed and made a noise like a tire going flat and then she looked again and stepped off the scales and then she kept feeling of herself all over whilst the grocer was getting the things.

My ant walked ahead of me and I had the basket on the slay, and the wind was blowing so hard that when I sot on the slay and held my coat open it blew my slay right along, and I looked around at the bunch to see if they were watching, and the next I knew my ant was settling on the basket and I was knocked off the slay. She got right up and she was mad. She said if the eggs was broke I would get the licking of my life. They were, but I didn't.

I had to go to school alone, but the bunch went home with me, and Maggie and Feeble and Younis told my ant she was getting fat, and all she et for supper was a slice of toast and some tea. Women aren't so very brite. My ant says some of them are brite and some of them get married.

"Heart of a Wife"

BY ADELE GARRISON

Dicky's Opportune Interruption Breaks the Tension

MY father and I caught Dicky's cue instantly. We already had instinctively averted our eyes from the sight of Lillian pleading with her husband for forgiveness for the well nigh unpardonable words she had hurled at him in her nervous reaction over the story of Marion's thoughtlessness which promised to have such serious results. Dicky's speech offered us the opportunity further to ignore our friends and give them the chance to pull themselves together.

"I don't understand you, Dicky," I said sharply, with the air of one ready to enter a controversy and continue it indefinitely. "You don't think that Carolyn or—Ronald or their mother—knows anything about this plot of Sam Brixton's—if it be his?"

"How can you be sure of anything?" Dicky retorted, and I caught an infinitesimal wink from the eye farthest from Lillian. "Of course Helena Brixton looks as if she were the most guileless thing since patient Griselda had her innings, but you never can tell about these sugary sweet women. As for the kids they probably do what even their father and mother bid them."

My Jealousy of Helena

If I had not known Dicky to be talking solely for Lillian's benefit I should have been appalled by his words. I do not care particularly for Helena Brixton and I am aware that a silly unworthy jealousy of her old friendship for Lillian antedating mine and now renewed is at the bottom of my feeling. But though she has her share of feminine pettiness she is a singularly guileless woman, and I would have staked my life that Samuel Brixton would never have confided to the wife he adored any of the nefarious schemes of which we suspected him and his half brother Charles Owen to be guilty. As for Ronald and Carolyn two of the most charming youngsters I ever had known, the thought of their being involved in any way in anything unethical was preposterous.

"I am not sure that I agree with you wholly, Richard," my father said slowly, and I was conscious that he also was playing for time that Lillian might recover from the brain storm which her husband's untimely anger for her had precipitated. But I think we were all a bit abashed when Lillian moved swiftly back to her chair and spoke in her usual crisp, decided tones.

"You needn't play for time any more, you blessed people. I'm all right and terribly ashamed of myself. I've made my peace with Henry. If I haven't convinced him I was absolutely goofy a minute ago and now I'm ready to straighten this out about Marion. I'll admit it was a body blow to learn that she had told Carolyn of that box but I mustn't let you get any false impressions concerning Carolyn, her brother, or their mother."

She paused as if considering how she should frame her next words, and I stole a furtive look at Harry Underwood from beneath my eyelashes. He was looking at his wife with his usual air of comradely admiration, but there was that in his eyes which told me that he could not so lightly recover from the cruel thrust she had given him. Time heals all wounds, the banal old truism sprang to my mind, but it takes time and much of it to heal so grievous a one as Lillian had heedlessly inflicted. That she realized this, I knew, but I also knew that both she and Harry were tacitly putting aside their reactions toward each other in order to face the problems presented by Marion's garrulousness to her "roomie."

Lillian Defends Helena

"I hold no brief for Samuel Brixton," Lillian went on. "He was a crook from his cradle although I do not think he is capable of murder or any crime involving cruelty. But he cannot think straight where money is involved. I think he'd rob a baby's bank, and all the other similes.

"But," and she emphasized the word, "make no mistake. Helena knows nothing of his actions. I know what I'm talking about. I knew Helena during the time she was married to that rotter, her first husband, who deserted her with her two tiny children, Carolyn only a few months old. I knew Samuel Brixton's perfect, patient devotion to her during the time that followed, a devotion which she would not reward until she knew that her first husband was dead. And no husband could have been more devoted to her, no father kinder to his own children than Sam Brixton has been to her and to Ronald and Carolyn to whom he gave his name legally as soon as he married their mother.

When they came last year on that visit to us, I saw that the years had not changed that beautiful relationship. His love for Helena and for her children is the one redeeming feature of Sam Brixton's life. He put her up on a pedestal years ago. He still keeps her there. He would no more let her know of any nefarious scheme of his than he would cut off his right arm, depend on that."

"But, Lillian," my father said slowly, "how do you explain the fact that he undoubtedly engineered the throwing together of his step-daughter and Marion as classmates at Whitney Hall."
